The following is a report of the results of Silicone foot ointment that was issued to this battalion on a trial basis: The ointment was distributed to all companies and instructions for proper application given. It was used on various small patrols with various degrees of success. By far the most comprehensive use and evaluation was on a sweep by Mike company. The following report was submitted by the Senior Corpsman of that company.
- (a) Experiment was conducted on operations from 25 - 27 January 1967. One hundred and seventy tubes were passed out the night before leaving, with about one hundred and fifty having time to apply the ointment. The first days march was about 1500 meters up several hills with about one hundred feet elevation. The second day was a 17 hour march of about 15,000 meters.

ENCLOSURE (6)

Approximately 8000 meters were up a river with all feet immersed for about eight hours. There followed approximately a 4000 meter walk over rocks, the remainder through dry rice paddies. On returning to the battalion area it was found that all personnel using product had, to some degree, stone bruises with a few blisters and one case of burning feet in which the patient had been treated previously. A breakdown by platoon is as follows:

1. 1st Platoon:
 Sorefoot: 18
 Blisters: 05

6. Totals:

(b) The product seemed to prevent blisters, softening callouses and after seventeen hours of marching with wet feet there was no wrinkling nor cases of immersion foot.

(c) Reaction to the product was excellent with all personnel requesting more. Only complaints were of the stickiness and difficulty applying product. Socks were not affected but held soil to feet making it difficult to wash them out.
